

all about... FLOUR

Structure of Wheat

Flour is milled from wheat. There are different types of wheat used to make flour. Differing characteristics found in wheat flours can be attributed to the type of wheat, where it was grown and conditions under which it grew.

Types of Flour

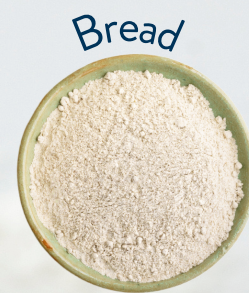

Hard wheats or blend of hard and soft wheats

Entire kernel of hard red wheat

Entire kernel of hard white wheat

Combination of hard, high protein wheats

Classes of Wheat

Soft White

Hard Red Spring

Durum

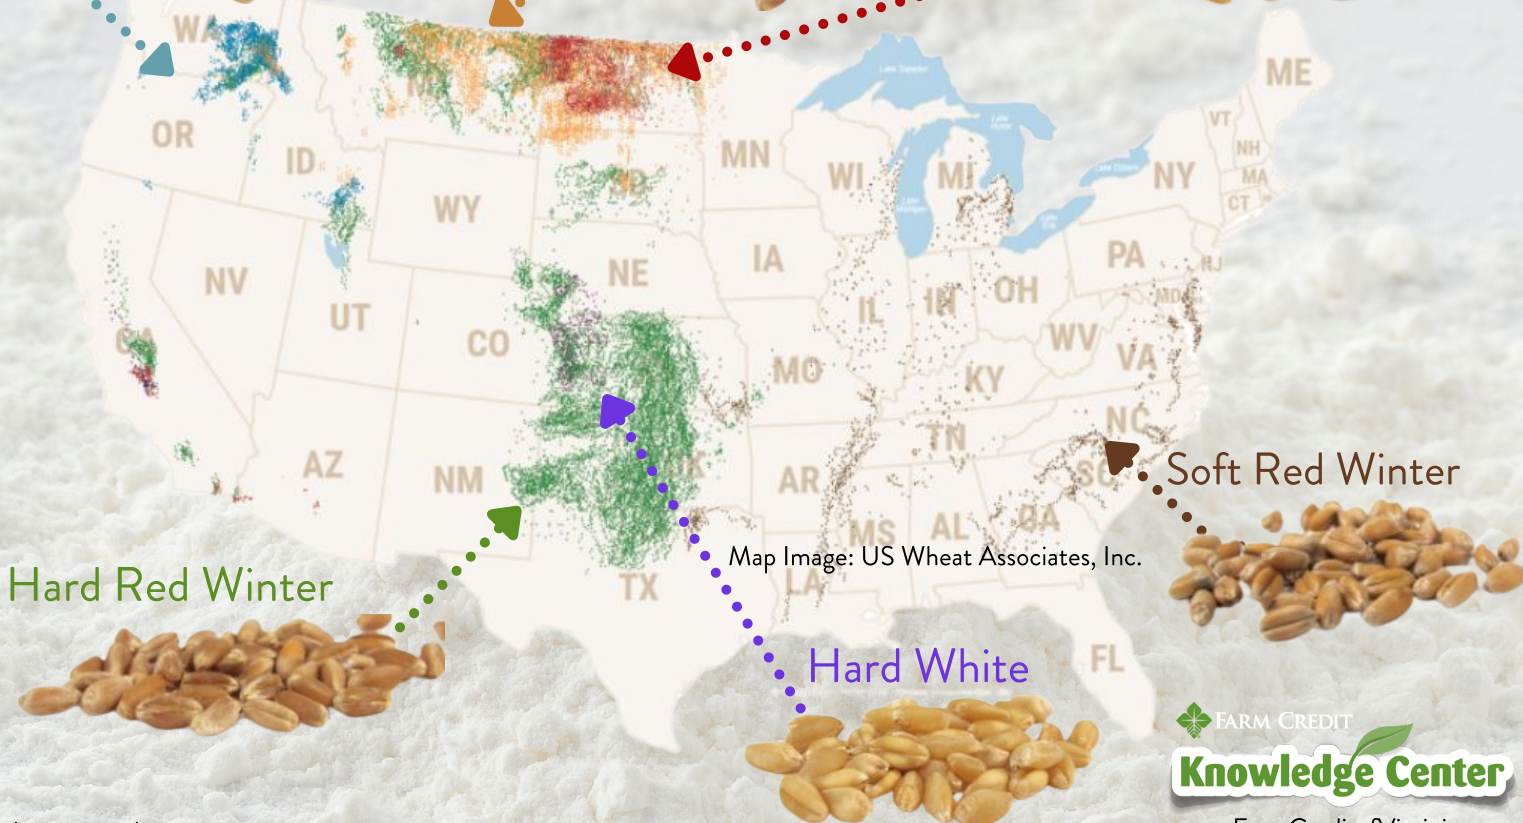

Hard Red Winter

Hard White

Soft Red Winter

Map Image: US Wheat Associates, Inc.